TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

W. B. Dawson—Announcement.
Steamer Spurrlock.
J. S. Huff—Notice.
Fair Association—$25 reward.

The citizen must not apply
The notion to his soul
That he can fight the winter through
Without the use of coal.
So let him go to work at once,
And like a little man,
Secure at once abundant store,
And do it while he can.

Notice to Advertisers.

As the advertising space in the DAILY BULLETIN during the fair week will be limited those persons who wish to make use of its columns at that time will please hand in their favors not later than next Monday.

Our public schools are now down to hard work.

The law against killing partridges expires October 20th.

Rev. S. B. ALDERSON will preach at the chapel next Sabbath as usual.

The Boyd county fair begins at Ashland October 3rd, and continues three days.

The Vanceburg Courier claims the late Mr. Bulger as a native of the State of Lewis.

A CEMENT pavement is being laid in front of John H. Wilson's residence on Third street.

The Maysville hogs have overcome everything yet except the combination locks of the banks.

Rev. S. H. CHESTER will preach in the Presbyterian Church on Third street Sunday morning and evening.

MESSRS. COLLINS, RUDY & Co.'s new frame residences in East Maysville are a handsome addition to the city.

The new street railway cars are expected to arrive every day. They were shipped from the factory last week.

A car that had frequented one of the business houses of Maysville for the past twenty-two years died on Thursday.

The farmers are busy cutting and housing their tobacco. The damage by frost in some parts of the county is considerable.

The pay train of the Kentucky Central went over the road yesterday, and made the usual monthly settlement with the employees.

The new steamer building at Cincinnati for the Packet Company recently organized at Vanceburg, is to be called the "Despatch."

PERSONS who desire to announce the arrival of friends in the city next week, are invited to make use of the columns of the BULLETIN.

MR. J. Q. GILMAN, of this city, has been notified that letters patent have been granted him for an improvement in bobbin spindles.

The official enumeration of the voters of Indiana show that they number four hundred and ninety-nine thousand eight hundred and forty-three.

The sidewalk at Limestone bridge should receive the attention of the city authorities. The road there will be almost impassable in bad weather.

MR. W. B. DAWSON, who has made an efficient deputy marshal, is a candidate for the chief position on the force. His announcement card will be found elsewhere.

The Ripley Bee and Times says: Jack Atwood informed us Sunday, that while in Maysville, last week, parties who knew told him that Bulger's grave was robbed the night after the burying.

The Gray property on Second street, lately bought by Mr. C. F. Zweigart, is to be converted into several stores, and handsomely improved. One of the rooms will be occupied by Mr. Zweigart as a meat store.

As business was a little dull yesterday one of our leading dry goods merchants set in to make expenses by blacking boots. Some work done for the BULLETIN, we take pleasure in saying, was equal to any ever done by a boot-black in Maysville.

The business of the late R. Albert will be conducted hereafter in the name of Mrs. Catherine Albert by Miss Anna Albert, her legally appointed agent. The stock of merchandise has been replenished and all departments of the business are now full and complete.

VISITORS to the fair will find some unusually fine specimens of the photographic art at Kackley's gallery. Mr. Kackley is an artist of rare skill and taste, and is second to none in the State. Photographing is certainly one of the many things that are well done in Maysville.

Fair Notes.
Machinery Hall will be provided with steam power.

The baby show will take place on Friday, immediately after dinner.

Articles for exhibition in Floral Hall must be in place before ten o'clock in the morning on Wednesday the 19th inst.

As will be seen by an advertisement elsewhere the fair company offers a reward of $25 for the detection of certain depredators.

The admission price on Tuesday, Maysville Day, will be only 25 cents. The price is put down on that day in order to place it in the power of everybody in the city to attend.

There will be no charge made for any article entered for exhibition in Floral Hall and all articles will be subject to removal at the close of the fair, except butter, wheat, tobacco and hams, which revert to the Association.

The special premiums offered by Messrs. Robinson & Co. are erroneously printed in the official programme. They should read as follows: For the best loaf of yeast bread, one barrel "Old Gold" flour; for the best salt-rising bread, one barrel "Old Gold" flour; for the best white cake, one barrel "Old Gold" flour.

Carriers Wanted.

THE BULLETIN desires to employ six active newsboys during fair week. Apply immediately.

The earnings of the Kentucky Central Railroad for August show an increase of $27,804 over last year on an increase of thirty-two miles of road.

A lot of lead pipe has lately been stolen from the fair grounds. This is the second time the thieves have gotten in their work. As the fair company has offered a liberal reward for their detection it is probable they will be apprehended.

To kill Canada thistles. Put a small teaspoonful of fine salt on the top when wet with dew, fog or rain. This is sure death to stalk and root, and see how easy the remedy is. It is but the work of a moment to trot over a ten acre field and sprinkle salt on each stalk of thistles.

The following marriage licenses were issued in Brown county, Ohio, since our last report:

James P. Boyd and Belle Pierce.

George Kinsel and Alice Wilson.
Samuel Jones and Christina Edwards.

FLUCTUATIONS continue in the Chicago corn market. The brokers say that farmers who speculate are all sending in orders to buy. November wheat advanced a little, but provisions were lower. Stocks are very dull in New York, partly in consequence of the uncertainty regarding corn. There was a break in petroleum.

THE BULLETIN to-day appears in an enlarged form, a change made necessary by the increase of its advertising patronage. Our friends in the mercantile community have shown a disposition to keep up with the times in the matter of soliciting trade, and we trust our readers will recognize their enterprise by extending to them their substantial favors.

A MAYSVILLE boy who was hunting paw-paws on the hillside in Ohio, opposite the city, yesterday, rolled down a declivity, a distance of about one hundred feet, and escaped without serious injury. He says the only thing that frightened him during his perilous descent was a tree that stood directly in his way, but as he did not strike it he supposed it must have stepped aside. You couldn't kill that boy if you tried, and that's the kind Maysville produces.

The provision wagon, and wagon for the ladies who wait upon the tables will leave Chenoweth & Co.'s drug store every morning at half past nine o'clock sharp, and will stop on the way to the fair ground at the residence of Mr. George Orr, and at George T. Wood's store in East Maysville. Persons are requested to leave their baskets there by eight o'clock promptly, so they can be picked, and to call for them the following day. The wagon for the ladies will leave the booth at the fair grounds at six o'clock in the evening to return home. This wagon will be used by the ladies free of charge, and none except those engaged in the dining room on that day will be allowed to go in it.

The gentlemen of Maysville wishing to attend the hops given next week will please leave their subscriptions with any of the committee on solicitation. Those who have already subscribed will be supplied with admission cards. These hops are given especially for strangers, and it is right that every gentleman in the city should be called upon to aid in making them a success. The young people having them in charge have labored diligently to make them the two grand events of fair week. Our town would offer but slight attraction to the young folks were it not for the hops. As some parties who have not contributed have wished to procure tickets, we will say that those who have not aided in these hops will not have admission tickets, and, therefore, will not be allowed to enter the hall. The ladies are all invited and do not require cards, but their escorts must have them.

Kentucky Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, South.

CYNTHIANA, Thursday, Sept. 11th.
Yesterday afternoon at three o'clock there was service in the M. E. Church, South, conducted by Rev. Dr. Anderson. His sermon was a very clear and beautiful explanation of the law of development in the religious life. "First the blade, then the ear, then the full corn in the ear."

The different committees were called together and organized for their work.

At night the house was filled to overflowing to hear the addresses on the subject of Church Extension. These were made by Bishops H. H. Kavanaugh and Rev. Dr. Morton, of Louisville, secretary of Church Extension Society. The necessity of having church edifices in order to the evangelization of the world and the lack of the buildings were presented as incontrovertible reasons for engaging heart and hand in the church extension enterprise. The preachers had reported something over $500 collected and a collection of $80 was taken from the congregation.

This morning at half past eight o'clock the conference morning prayer meeting was held. At nine o'clock the conference was called to order by Bishop Keener in the chair. After the calling of the roll an interesting address to the conference from the Central Centenary Committee. On this address the Rev. Dr. Young, of Nashville, made interesting remarks. In 1884 the Methodist Church will have completed its first one hundred years of organized existence in America. Its success in that period has been really phenomenal and unprecedented.

In celebrating its centennial, the M. E. Church, South, proposes to raise the amount of two million dollars to be divided equally between missionary work, educational interests, and church extension. This amount is to be over and above the usual collections required. We are well able to do it. The names of several young men who were called, represented to the conference and received. The class of the first year was called. It consists of Revs. Pollitt, Shoemaker, Boswell and Green. These brethren reported their work, were represented to the conference and continued.

Rev. G. C. Smith, of Georgia, an eminent writer and preacher of our church, was introduced to the conference.

The meetings of the committee were announced for this afternoon. Rev. D. W. Robertson is to preach at 3 p. m.

Rev. G. C. Young was announced to preach in the Christian Church this evening.

At the Methodist Church to-night addresses will be delivered on the subject of the centennial celebration of American Methodism in 1884, by Bishop Kavanaugh and Keener, and Dr. Young, of Nashville.

The Vanceburg Courier says: Miss Maggie Northcott, of Maysville, has been engaged by Prof. Grider to take charge of the music class at Riverside Seminary during the coming year. Miss Northcott comes with a splendid recommendation as a thorough instructor of music, and Prof. Grider has been fortunate in securing her services.

A COMMISSION of experts will be appointed at the direction of President Arthur, to make a searching examination of all the branches and conditions of the hog raising and packing interests of the United States. The commission will consist of one representative of the New York Chamber of Commerce, one representative of the Chicago Board of Trade, two experts, to be selected by the Agricultural Department, and one gentleman to be appointed by the President—five members in all. Its appointment has been considered necessary on account of the prohibition against American pork in some of the foreign markets.

The Lexington Press estimates that not less than $80,000 was left in that city by persons attending the fair. This is a practical illustration of the benefit a community derives from a fair.

It has been discovered by a Boston man that the human body would float like a duck were it not for the legs.

At Cadiz, O., Mrs. Geer attacked the saloon of John Holland with an axe. She knocked in the front windows, smashed their contents, which consisted of bottles of whisky and wine, then went inside and broke up nearly all the bar fixtures. The cause of the action was the fact that Holland had sold her husband and son liquor against her repeated protests.

There are several reasons why the Equitable life takes the lead of all others doing business in the United States. One reason is the promptness with which losses are paid, the society not taking the usual sixty to ninety days time. This is the rule and not an exception. Below is a sample. Any person desiring life insurance would do well to apply to Jos. F. Brodick, Agent, Maysville, Ky.:
